

Privacy Policy

Prudential Assurance is committed to safeguarding your privacy. We would like to assure our visitors that we do not as a policy share with any third party personal data or information collected directly or indirectly during their visits (unless stated otherwise in the Terms of Use).

Prudential Assurance will not disclose any of your personally identifiable information except when we have your permission or under special circumstances.

This site contains links to other sites. Prudential Assurance is not responsible for the privacy practices or the content of such web sites.